Scarlet Fever Weakens Kidneys Health Talk No. 3

By J. D. Goldsberry, D. C.

Scarlet fever invariably leaves its victim with after-effects that are often less painfal but more to be feared because of their weakening effect on the everyday health of the victim. Weakness of the kidneys frequently develops after scarlet fever.

Life when it functions 100 per cent in any organ of the body means health and vigor. It is the nervous system, radiat-GOLDSBERRY, D. C. ing from the brain out through the openings of the spine, that keeps the body in healthful balance. When there is weakness in the kidneys it is due to interference with the transmission of mental impulses over spinal nerve lines to the kidneys. Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove this interference and restore the conditions of health.

KIDNEY WEAKNESS TURNS TO HEALTH

"All regular physicians whom I consulted about my case called it a breaking down of the kidney cells. In time, they said, I would have no kidneys. This condition was shown by analysis of urine. I became chiropractic spinal adjustments and to test results had a arise analysis made once more and found all trace of albumon and evidence of itssue decay had cleared up. Today I am entirely well.—Ivving A. Sievert, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1697H.

The dea that the Roman Catholic church shall continue to act as censor over the history books used in the public schools of this great nation, and will not permit the exact truth regarding the history of medieval Europe to be taught to the children of America is condition which the people of Indiana will not longer tolerate. storm of protest against this form of religious teaching through the history books of our public schools has been received by this paper in the form of letters and petitions demanding that this practice cease, and these objectionable books be weeded out of our school rooms. The book, "Early European History," by Hutton Webster, now in use and offered again by the D. C. Heath & Co., publishers, and also "History of-Europe, Ancient and Medieval," by Robinson & Breasted, and offered by Ginn & Co., publishers, are not the kind of books that should be taught in our public schools.

Klan Helped in Cleanup

The common street talk is that the Klan has had something to do with the coming cleanup, at any rate the police are shaking in their boots and are grabbing at every straw which they think that perhaps would be a life saver. Today the Dover Reporter carries a story that two of the force who are implicated are suing the New Philadelphia Daily Times for $100,000 for alleged libelous accounts in their issue of May 3.

As a further result of the start that has been made it is alleged that that there is going to be a cleanup of Dover and that the thrifty bootlegging that has been going on in Tus nendable upon the force in the furtherance of the campaign.
